Past Retreat Participants Share:

“When worship ends, I often see men I’d like to connect with. But I have to get my kids, they have to get their kids, everyone’s running around and we’re lucky to have two minutes to chat and I might remember his name later. The retreat gave me a chance to learn not just his name, but his backstory.”

“I was worried the retreat would be cliquish and well-established subgroups, like high school...I would be the new guy...wondering what group I should join. My experience was the opposite/every guy there was interested to know me, and I connected with the most diverse group I’ve ever been a part of.”
